

Marine Protected Areas

do not just help with biodiversity conservation but also with improving fisheries, tourism and resilience to climate change.

What are Marine Protected Areas?

Marine Protected Areas (MPAs) are recognized, dedicated and managed coastal or marine areas essential for conserving ocean biodiversity and for maintaining productivity, especially of fish stocks.

UK Government

UKaid
from the British people

Support MPAs. Save Marine Life.