

*To maintain or adapt habitats/species at levels corresponding to ecological, scientific and cultural requirements, taking account of economic and recreational requirements